

The Creative Enneagram

Self-Evaluation Worksheet

Did one of the Nine Creative Types immediately resonate with you? While no one is “just one thing,” many people recognize both the healthy and unhealthy characteristics of their Creative Type right away. Remember though, your personality type, or your Creative Type, is just one part of the amazingly intricate and uniquely created image bearer that you are. Your spiritual giftings, your life circumstances, your habits, your family, and countless other factors all play a part in shaping you into who you are and who you might someday become.

For all you personality test deniers, don’t overlook the patterns woven into you by your Creator. For all you personality test believers—yes, we see you posting your Type on social media—don’t let your type dictate to you who you are or what you are capable of, because God is changing and maturing each of us to be more like Him. So, let Him!

Just be forewarned, change is a process. Sometimes it’s a long and arduous path to understanding your creative calling, and learning your Creative Type is just the first step.

Are you ready?

Assess yourself with the questions below and then for more resources and to take a Creative Types test, visit www.CreatedforChange.com.

Questions

1. Why is it that personality tests and spiritual gifts tests only tell “part of the story” about you and how God has made you?

2. Why do you think personality tests are so popular? How might they be misused as a way to glorify self rather than glorify God and serve others?

3. How does being made in the image of a unique and amazingly creative Creator God inform the way we think about our giftings and callings?

4. Which of the nine creative types do you think you are? What would those closest to you say you are?

5. What specific unhealthy behaviors do you need to ask God to change in you?

6. What specific healthy behaviors do you need to ask God to use in you?

7. How does knowing that God formed you in the womb and planned out every little quirk in your personality before the beginning of time prompt you to worship Him today?

For more resources and to take a Creative Types test, visit www.CreatedforChange.com.